

Village Houses of Nepal

1. Traditional Mud and Thatch Houses

These houses are built with locally available mud and thatch. They are cool in summer and warm in winter, commonly found in the Terai and hilly villages.

2. Stone Houses

In mountainous villages, houses are constructed using stones. These houses provide strong protection against cold weather and harsh conditions.

3. Bamboo and Wood Houses

Popular in some hilly and rural areas, bamboo and wood houses are lightweight, flexible, and eco-friendly. They are quick to construct and adapt well to the environment.

Village Houses of Nepal

Terms and Conditions

1. Usage Rights:

All photos and descriptions are intended for educational and illustrative purposes only.

2. Reproduction Restriction:

No part of this document may be reproduced, stored, or transmitted in any form without prior written permission.

3. Disclaimer:

While every effort has been made to ensure the accuracy of the information, some variations might exist.